RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAIL DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1894.

No. 106P.—D.

RESOLUTION.

JAILS.

Dated Darjeeling, the 3rd June 1895.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1894.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1892 and 1893, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Surgeon-Lieutenant Colonel D. W. D. Comins held charge of the Department throughout the year. His report, which bears date 1st May 1895, was received in the Secretariat on the 15th May, and this delay has made it impossible to prepare the Government Resolution by the date when it is due to the Government of India, the 1st June. The chief administrative event of the year was the passing of the Prisons Act and Prisoners' Act in the Supreme Legislative Council, a result of the recommendations of the Jail Committee appointed in 1888 to report upon certain matters connected with jail administration in India. The law being altered, it was necessary to take in hand the revision of the Jail Code, and Mr. W. Leonard, Superintendent of the Bhagalpur central jail, was placed on special duty for the purpose.

2. Judicial Statistics.—The only change made in the classes of jails during the year was the conversion of the Hazaribagh district jail into a second class central jail. The following table shows the total number of prisoners of a classes confined in the jails and subsidiary jails of the province during 1894 and the preceding ten years:—

	1884.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.

The most important statistic is that which shows the number of persons sentenced to imprisonment and admitted direct to jail, year by year. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that the decrease in this figure, which began in 1893, has been maintained in 1894, and there is some reason to connect this decrease, as well as the previous increase, with the price of food.

Year.	Number of convicts admitted direct.	Per rupee. Srs.	ch.
1st December 1887 ...	29,942	20	5
Ditto 1888 ...	30,995	17	0

Ditto 1890 ...	32,886	17	5
Ditto 1891 ...	34,814	14	0
Ditto 1892 ...	38,538	13	9
Ditto 1893 ...	37,265	14	5
Ditto 1894 ...	36,178	16	10

A statement showing the average retail price of common rice for the whole province on the 31st December for each year from 1887 to 1894, and also the number of convicts admitted direct in each year, is given in the margin. The gradient which would represent in a diagram the numbers annually admitted direct into prison agrees closely with that which would represent the scale of prices. Food rose in value from 1887 to 1889, and the numbers admitted increased year by year. In 1890 food was cheaper (as shown by the figures on the 31st December), and the numbers admitted in that year fell off. It grew dearer in 1891 and again in 1892, and the numbers admitted in those years show a continuous increase. Prices fell again in 1893 and 1894, and the numbers sentenced to imprisonment fell with them.

3. The following table shows those districts which have furnished the largest numbers of convictions with the population and ratio of convictions per mille of population:—

District.	Population.	Number of convictions.	Ratio per mille of population.
1	2	3	4
Mymensingh ...	3,472,186	1,677	·48
Faridpur ...	1,797,320	1,600	·89
24-Parganas ...	1,892,033	1,520	·80

Backergunge ...	2,153,965	1,097	·50
For whole Province	71,346,987	36,178	·50

The Inspector-General should in future reports always show the proportion of convictions to the population of the district as has been done in the above table; it is obvious that a mere statement of the number of convictions gives a very misleading impression of the incidence of crime.

4. Releases.—The following table gives a comparative view of the number of releases under the various heads during the last eight years:—

	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.

,, on other grounds	6,484	88	2	9	9	6	9	5

* Excluding 13 moribund prisoners who were released under Rule 488 of the Jail Code and included as deaths.

The divergence in the numbers under the heads "On expiry of sentence" and "Under remission rules" is partly due to the inclusion of one-year prisoners under the mark system. The number of releases on appeal shows a small increase over the figures for the previous year; but the figures are smaller than those of the three years preceding 1893. In this respect Malda again heads the list with 12·71 per cent. of releases on appeal. The number of prisoners transported from the Bengal jails rose from 120 to 127. The number of executions shows a steady decrease during the last four years, the figures being 37 in 1891, 32 in 1892, 30 in 1893, and 20 in 1894.

5. Classification of convicts.—Out of the 36,178 convicts admitted direct into jail during the year, 20,719, or 57·27 per cent., were Hindus, 13,702, or 37·87 per cent., Muhammadans, and 369, or 1·02 per cent., Christians. The number of juveniles under 16 years of age admitted to jail was 478 against 458 in 1893. The reformatory schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh remained full throughout the year. Fifty additional cubicles were constructed at the latter institution. The total number of female convicts admitted direct to jail was 1,444 as compared with 1,510 and 1,484 in 1893 and 1892, respectively. The following table shows the number of convicts sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and the respective percentage to total of convicts for the two years 1893 and 1894. It will be seen that the ratios are remarkably similar:—

6. Reconvictions.—While the total number of admissions to jail has shown a decrease, the number of reconvictions has risen from 3,888 in 1892 to 3,969 in 1893 and 4,086 in 1894, the ratio per cent. to total convictions being 10·08, 10·65, and 11·29. The Inspector-General ascribes this increase to the effect of the introduction of the Bertillon system, and the increased attention paid to the identification of prisoners. There has been steady and satisfactory progress in this respect since 1891, and it is hoped that the co-operation of the jail authorities with the police will lead to still further improvement in future years. From information supplied by the Inspector-General of Police it appears that in 1893 (from July till December) 23 reconvictions were directly due to the identification afforded by this system of measurement, while no less than 143 old convicts were detected by this means in 1894. The increase shown in the number of persons imprisoned in default of giving security for their good behaviour during the preceding three years has not been maintained in 1894, the number having fallen from 1,761 to 1,723.

7. Sentences.—The number of sentences of simple and rigorous imprisonment fell from 2,965 and 33,983 to 2,647 and 33,176, respectively. Of the total admissions, 32,121 had sentences not exceeding one year, and 4,057 sentences exceeding one year. The ratios per cent. to total convictions are thus 88·79 and 11·21 as compared with 87·97 and 12·03 of the previous year. The corresponding ratios throughout the whole of British India during 1893 were 85·99 and 14·01, respectively.

8. Under-trial prisoners.—The total number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 31,507 as compared with 32,307 in 1893 and 33,525 in 1892. Of the total number admitted, including those remaining in jail on the first day of the year, 16,593, or 50·92 per cent., were finally convicted, and 12,596, or 38·65 per cent., released. In 1893, 49·81 per cent. were convicted and 40·41 per cent. released. As illustrating the general unhealthiness of the year, it is noted that 61 under-trial prisoners died as compared with 32 in 1893. Eight under-trial prisoners escaped from subsidiary jails, of whom four were recaptured. The figures for 1893 were,—four escapes, three recaptures. The average detention of under-trial prisoners in Sessions cases was the same as in the preceding year, viz., 39·99 days; but Sir Charles Elliott is very disappointed to notice an increase in the average detention in the Magisterial Courts cases, from 10·98 to 11·96 days. The following table shows the districts where detention in trials before Magistrates was longest, with the total numbers of prisoners under trial, contrasted with the figures for 1893:—

District.	1894.		1893.
	Total prisoners under trial.	Average detention in days.	Total prisoners under trial.	Average detention in days.
1	2	3	4	5
Dinajpur ...	284	27·22	311	7·92
Darbhanga ...	290	18·53	250	12·64
Chaibassa ...	618	17·17	499	9·86

Hooghly ...	248	14·80	281	10·40
Mymensingh ...	506	14·67	531	11·06

The comparison here afforded is not creditable to the districts concerned, and discloses remissness on the part of Magistrates in a duty so constantly inculcated. The figures for Dinajpur are particularly bad, and such as to demand a special enquiry by the Commissioner. The shortest detention occurred in Gaya (3·77), Balasore (7·55), and Khulna (7·86).

9. Civil Prisoners.—Fifty-seven civil prisoners remained in confinement at the close of 1893, and 747 were admitted during 1894, against 751 in the previous year. Of this total, seven were transferred, two died, and 731 were released, leaving 64 in confinement at the end of the year.

10. State Prisoners.—The Lushai prisoner, Nikoala, who was confined in the Alipore central jail, died on the 3rd September 1894. Two Lushai Chiefs, Thangula and Dakola, were detained in the Hazaribagh jail throughout the year. Two others, Ropui Lieni and Lalthuama, were admitted into the Chittagong jail in April 1894. The Government of India have recently sanctioned the transfer of Thangula and Dakola to Assam and Chittagong respectively. Ropui Lieni has died in the Chittagong jail since the close of the year.

11. Jail Buildings.—Excluding a sum of Rs. 1,433 expended upon the Presidency Jail Press, Rs. 1,353 upon the reformatory schools at Hazaribagh and Alipore, and Rs. 58 on the Jagatsingpur hajat (or in all Rs. 2,844), the total actual expenditure during 1894 was Rs. 79,469 as compared with Rs. 84,310 of the previous year. The grant for major works for the year 1894-95 amounted to Rs. 80,000; of this, Rs. 19,041 only are shown as expended up to the close of the calendar year for which this report is submitted. This would seem to indicate that sufficient effort had not been made to utilise the whole grant; but the figures for the financial year 1894-95, to which these grants apply, procured from the Public Works Department, show that, as far as the expenditure has been fully accounted for, Rs. 73,332 had been spent up to March 1895. Certain items of this total are, however, still subject to alteration.

Among the more important works undertaken or completed during the year were the construction of additional wards in the Bhagalpur central jail and the reconstruction of the old workshops in the Alipore jail. The latter work, commenced in 1893, was finished at a total cost of Rs. 24,205, exclusive of work done by the Sibpur workshops. Rupees 14,000 were sanctioned for a sleeping barrack in the Comilla jail, and Rs. 7,360 for making additions and alterations in the Presidency jail. The Lieutenant-Governor has put a stop to the system hitherto observed of allotting separate grants for major and minor works, and has now given the Department a lump sum of one lakh for new works, which the Inspector-General can distribute as he likes among works the importance of which has been admitted and for which administrative sanction has been given.

The question of providing separate compartments, or cubicles, for sleeping has been under the careful consideration of this Government, and plans, specifications and estimates for four different kinds of cubicles have been prepared by the Department of Public Works. Two of these have been selected, and will be tried in the new ward to be constructed in the Bhagalpur jail, as well as in one of the new wards to be made in the Hazaribagh jail. A series of new standard plans, embodying all the latest improvements suggested, has also been drawn up in the Public Works Department for an intermediate jail, a cellular jail, cubicles, latrines, a roof ventilator, and a new pattern grating.

12. Guards.—The Inspector-General raises the question of the pay of warders and the difficulties experienced by certain Superintendents of central Jails to obtain suitable men as recruits. He remarks upon this subject :—

"Now that the pay of sepoys has been increased and the pay and position of the police improved, it must be expected that the warder service will not be sought after unless similar advantages are obtained. As a result of the drain on central jails, the warders sent to district jails have often been untrained, wanting in discipline, and with an insufficient knowledge of their duties, but as a body the warder guard have behaved well."

His Honour will be prepared to give consideration to this matter if the Inspector-General submits, after full enquiry, his proposals in a definite shape.

The number of criminal offences committed by the warder guard fell from 45 to 34, and departmental offences were also fewer. The total number of punishments inflicted during the year was 1,863 as compared with 1,879 in 1893 and 1,935 in 1892. The Inspector-General reports that the Lieutenant-Governor's wishes expressed in the Resolution on the Jail Report for 1892 regarding the drilling of warders along with the police have been carried out fully whenever the distance between their respective parade grounds has not proved an insurmountable difficulty.

13. Escapes.—The number of escapes among convicts fell from 26 in 1893 to 21 in 1894. Of these, 8 were from district jails, 2 from intermediate jails, and 11 from subsidiary jails. Ten prisoners escaped from inside and 11 from outside the jails, as compared with 12 and 14, the corresponding figures for 1893. Four warders are reported to have been criminally prosecuted for negligence in this connection, and sentenced to terms of imprisonment, ranging from 18 months to 15 days. Of the 21 convicts who escaped, 17 were recaptured, besides 5 who had escaped in previous years. Of those who escaped, 17 had sentences under one year, one of seven years and over, and three were life convicts.

14. Prison discipline.—The following table shows the nature of offences committed by convicts:—

			Offences dealt with by Superintendent.
			A.	B.	C.	D.	E.
	Daily average population.	Offences dealt with by Criminal Courts.	Relating to work.	Relating to prohibited articles.	Relating to assaults, mutiny and escapes.	All other breaches of Jail rules.	Total.
1894 ...	16,080	53	20,334	4,760	661	15,540	41,295
1893 ...	16,427	61	24,799	4,157	546	15,574	45,076

The figures for 1892 have been supplied in this office, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that all tables of this kind in the Report should furnish the corresponding figures for the previous year. There has been a considerable decrease in offences relating to work, and an increase under the head "Prohibited articles," said to be due to the larger number of prisoners employed outside the jail and on buildings. Exclusive of warnings, the total number of punishments was 29,983 as compared with 33,206 in 1893 and 34,694 in 1892. The total number of warnings was 11,312 against 11,871 in the previous year. The number of whippings was 277, and the decrease in the percentage to total punishments was marked, viz., from 0·97 in 1892 to 0·72 in 1893 and 0·67 in 1894. The jails which show the largest ratio in this respect are Jalpaiguri (3·77), Presidency, European (2·32), and Monghyr (2·15); the corresponding ratio for all British India was 1·85 in 1892 and 1·41 in 1893. There was only a single case of whipping in the Dacca central jail during the year. The total number of prisoners punished with fetters also shows a decrease from 10,418 in 1893 to 9,417 in 1894.

15. Convict officers, mark remissions, &c.—The convict officers, of whom on an average 937 were male and 13 female prisoners, are reported to have been of the greatest assistance in the preservation of discipline. The new mark rules, which give effect to one of the proposals made by the Jail Committee appointed in 1888, and which were adopted by the Government of India, came into force on the 1st January 1894. The chief innovation made by these rules is that they reduce the limit of sentence rendering a prisoner eligible for remission by marks from two years to one year.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that the system of giving relief to destitute prisoners on release from the Claude Martin Fund was worked with care and success, and that 1,103 prisoners were relieved in this way from a sum of Rs. 2,500 placed at the Inspector-General's disposal. Besides this all prisoners receive, on their release from jail, a sum graduated according to the distance of their homes, to support them on the way. The careful disbursement of this subsistence allowance is a matter to which the Lieutenant-Governor in the course of his inspections has always attributed great importance, and he has insisted on the Civil Surgeons in charge personally seeing that the proper allowance under the rules, to enable the released prisoner to reach his home, is actually given.

16. Expenditure.—The gross expenditure on jails and subsidiary jails during the year and the nine previous years is shown in the following statement:—

The increase in expenditure is large, but the Lieutenant-Governor [illegible] central jail[illegible] it is quite justified by the explanations given by the Inspector-General. The only head under which there is a decrease is that of supervision. The increases under the heads "Diet," "Hospital charges" and "Clothing" are satisfactory in view of the higher mortality of the year, which might otherwise have been ascribed to undue economy. The average cost per prisoner has been Rs. 79-14-3—the highest rate that has occurred during the last ten years.

17. Average rates.—The average prices paid for the principal articles of diet during the year 1894 as compared with the five previous years are shown in the following table:—

Dr. Comins reports that the storage of grain in bulk in the cheap season has been carried on in most jails fairly well, and in some with great success. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to receive the testimony of Dr. Comins to the forethought displayed in this respect by many Superintendents and jailors, and trusts that still further improvement may be made. It will be seen from the bottom line in the table that the price paid by the Jail Department has been lower than the average price recorded in the prices-current for every year since 1889.

18. The expenditure per prisoner for diet in each jail is contrasted with that of the previous year in the following table:—

The average expenditure per prisoner for diet throughout the province was Rs. 25-15-10 as compared with Rs. 24-12-8 in 1893, Rs. 25-10-6 in 1892, and Rs. 22-12-10 in 1891. Out of the 47 jails in Bengal, 28 show an increase and 19 a decrease over the figures for the previous year. As the price of all food-grains was lower, the increase in cost must have been due to a more liberal diet and better quality of food being given to the prisoners on medical grounds.

19. Establishment.—The figures in the margin indicate the expenditure under this head during the past five years. There has been an increase of Rs. 17,094 during the year under report. Of this, Rs. 13,416 represents exchange compensation allowance and allowances drawn by medical officers holding executive charge of the jails during the absence on privilege leave of the permanent incumbents. There is an increase of Rs. 1,547 under the head "Jailors, Deputy and Assistant Jailors," and of Rs. 1,628 under the head "Civil Hospital Assistants and Compounders."

	Rs.
1890	3,78,895
1891	3,84,825
1892	3,88,293
1893	3,94,399

Hospital charges rose from Rs. 52,541 in 1893 to Rs. 70,148 in 1894, owing to the larger number of prisoners requiring medical treatment, and to the supply of extra and more varied diet during an unhealthy year. To the cause of health is also to be laid the rise in expenditure on clothing. The largest increase (Rs. 39,980) has occurred under the head "Contingencies," chiefly under the following items:—Transfer charges (Rs. 7,457), municipal taxes (Rs. 8,864), cows, &c. (Rs. 3,362), and pumps (Rs. 2,401). The Government of India have recently, in view of the inconveniently vague nature of this head, prescribed a revised form of Statement No. X, and drawn up a schedule indicating items of charges which should be included under each head. The amended classification, which should come into force from this year, will remove the objections which attach to the present system. The Lieutenant-Governor observes, however, that such items as pumps, ejectors, incinerators, waterlifts, and cooking ranges, which are permanent structural improvements, should have been shown separately in this Report, and not amalgamated with items which are essentially "contingent" charges.

20. Taking together all three heads of controllable expenditure, viz., "Diet," "Hospital charges," and "Clothing," the average cost per prisoner was Rs. 34-11-6 compared with Rs. 31-13-11 in 1893 and Rs. 33-1 in 1892. Of the 33 jails in which the cost per prisoner has been below the average for all jails, 18 have had a mortality among convicts under the average, and 15 above. Of the 15 jails in which the cost per prisoner has exceeded the average, 8 have had a mortality above the average, and 7 under. In future the Inspector-General should, in comparing economy in expenditure, insert in the table illustrating it a column showing the death-rate per mille of all admissions. A comparison thus effected bears out the statement made in last year's Resolution that it cannot be said that a high rate of mortality accompanies economy in food.

21. Employment of prisoners and manufactures.—The average daily number of prisoners sentenced to labour on working days was 15,900 as compared with 16,219 of the previous year. The daily average of sick, convalescent, and infirm rose from 1,872 to 2,185; the number employed on unremunerative labour from 1,080 to 1,131; and the number employed on jail buildings from 719 to 1,032. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to see that the numbers employed on gardening have been steadily decreasing since 1892, although this is the healthiest and most natural form of labour for prisoners. The net cash earnings for the year were Rs. 4,90,536, showing a very satisfactory increase over the figure for the previous year (Rs. 3,81,086). The improvement was chiefly due to working off the stock of raw materials in the Bhagalpur jail at the end of 1893, whereby the cash earnings of that jail rose from Rs. 212 to Rs. 72,101.

22. Average earnings in central jails.—The following table compares the average earnings per prisoner sentenced to labour in central jails for the last two years:—

	1894.	1893.
	Rs. A	Rs. A.
Presidency	112 7	121 14
Buxar	51 6	51 6
Alipore	40 2	32 5
Bhagalpur	24 5	21 10
Midnapore	20 0	24 2
Rampur Boalia	8 12	9 2
Hazaribagh	6 6	8 8
Dacca	5 8	6 5

The ordinary profit in the Alipore jail rose from Rs. 58,051 to Rs. 69,759, while the aggregate value of articles supplied to other departments rose from Rs. 1,01,820 to Rs. 1,30,751. The decrease in the value of the work done in the Presidency jail, in the Press Department, which fell from Rs. 1,56,921 in 1893 to Rs. 1,39,310 in 1894, is ascribed to a smaller daily average of convicts employed and to their general bad health. In the Buxar central jail the earnings amounted to Rs. 55,493, as compared with Rs. 58,278 in the previous year; while the average per prisoner employed on manufactures rose from Rs. 90-6 to Rs. 98-6. The ordinary profit in the Bhagalpur jail rose from Rs. 26,611-11 in 1893-94 to Rs. 30,859-6 in 1894. In the Midnapore jail the figures show a decline from Rs. 20,816 to Rs. 15,727, due to the unhealthiness of the jail during the first-half of the year, all manufacturing operations having been stopped for a period of three months. The average profits of the district jails amounted to Rs. 68,710 as compared with Rs. 72,690 in 1893. The decrease is chiefly due to the exclusion of the Hazaribagh jail from the list of district jails.

23. Quinine and its distribution.—In the Resolution of the 6th December 1892, the Lieutenant-Governor decided, with the object of extending the use of quinine among the poorer classes of Bengal, so liable to the ravages of fever, to supply the drug from the Government Factory at Darjeeling, and have it made up in packets of 5 grains each by jail labour for distribution through the agency of post offices and other public offices. At first it was arranged to have the packets prepared at the Hazaribagh Reformatory School, but the industry was soon transferred to the Alipore jail, where it has since been carried on. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently in a separate Resolution reviewed the results of the scheme during the first two years of its operation, considering the sales month by month in juxtaposition to the corresponding monthly returns of mortality from fever, and district by district relatively to the prevalence of fever. The figures furnished in this report supplement the information then before Government and further establish the success of the scheme. At the Alipore central jail the industry has given daily employment to 17·5 adolescents. The number of powders filled and packed was 2,917,526, and the cash and credits realised amounted to Rs. 31,832-13, as compared with Rs. 18,077-12 in 1893. The total number of post offices supplied increased from 2,272 to 2,321, and the profits amounted to Rs. 5,091. This surplus should either be absorbed in providing a better description of paper for the envelopes, or in allowing a higher commission to postmasters and other agents for sale.

24. Subsidiary Jails.—There were 85 subsidiary jails, the number remaining the same as during the previous year. Nine of these are reported not to have been visited the prescribed number of times by the Subdivisional Officers. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that the Khond Mahal, Gaibanda, Howrah, Buxar, and Madhubani jails again appear in this list, in spite of the orders passed in last year's Resolution, and requests that the District Magistrates concerned will take measures to see that such neglect does not recur. The number of convicts fell from 16,843 to 16,130, the daily average confined also decreasing from 377 to 363. Of 12 civil prisoners confined in subsidiary jails during the year, 6 were released and 6 transferred. Nineteen escapes were effected by convicts and under-trial prisoners during the year, as compared with 12 in 1893 and 18 in 1892. Of 11 convicts who escaped, 9 were recaptured. The total expenditure on subsidiary jails fell from Rs. 1,10,027 to Rs. 1,09,923; while the average cost per prisoner remained about the same. The net profits from manufactures rose from Rs. 4,183 to Rs. 4,238.

25. Scales of diet.—Early in the year the sickness prevalent in the Midnapore Jail attracted the attention of Government and led to the sanction of full labouring diet to the prisoners of that jail, as well as of 24 subsidiary jails selected as receiving prisoners in an ill-nourished condition. Special attention was directed by Superintendents and medical officers during the year to the subject of diet scales, resulting in the substitution of a better quality of food and in other improvements. The jail gardens have in most cases been able to supply an abundance of good vegetables and condiments, and jailors have been encouraged to give nutritious vegetables to the fullest extent as an addition to the ordinary diet. The cultivation of crops within the inner enclosure of jails has been discouraged, and the more sanitary system of extra-mural cultivation adopted where sufficient space is available.

26. Water-supply.—Dr. Comins has furnished an interesting account of some of the many improvements effected and undertaken in this direction during the year; and the Lieutenant-Governor invites a still fuller report in future years of all that has been done towards this reform with the importance of which he is glad to see that the Inspector-General is as deeply impressed as His Honour himself is. Attention has been paid during the year to all the branches of this question, the source of the supply, the manner in which it is brought into the jail, the system adopted for boiling and for filtering it, and the measures taken for its distribution to the cook room and the wards, without manual contamination. The annual chemical analysis of the water used in jails has been carried out. Four of the central jails—Alipore, Presidency, Bhagalpur, and Dacca—and three district jails—Burdwan, Darjeeling, and Arrah—are already supplied by direct communication from the water-works of the town. Other jails, not so fortunate, derive their water-supply from rivers or tanks, by pump or otherwise, but the majority of small jails still draw their water from wells inside the premises. Dr. Comins summarises the measures taken in this important matter as follows:—

"The supply of pumps to jails requiring them has been continued, and the Alipore Jail has commenced to manufacture and send out powerful pumps. As first attempts they have proved somewhat clumsy and hard to work, but these defects will disappear with more experience, and it will be a great advantage to be able to manufacture pumps, the largest of which are expensive articles to purchase. Tube wells have been purchased and supplied, but have failed in some instances. They have done well in Purnea, Dumka, and Rangpur, and will, I think, be valuable for sandy soils. The water-lift invented by Mr Larymore has also been sent to some jails. The piping for drinking water has been extended and hydrants set up, pumps connected by pipe with patent boilers and filters The Alipore patent boiler has been supplied and set up in other jails, and there are few jails now which do not possess one. At the Alipore Jail a masonry reservoir to hold 14,000 gallons has been made, which will hold two days' supply in case of any accident to the main or at the pumping station. The large masonry reservoir and settling tank at Arrah have been arched over. Other improvements effected during the year are the supply of water-tight covers to wells, iron water-carts, cans for distribution especially constructed to avoid contamination by hand, iron drums with padlock and tap for hospitals and sleeping wards for the cleanly storage of drinking water, pipes with taps over the cooking cauldrons obviating the necessity of carriage by hand. At Krishnagar a new well has been dug, and a patent boiler and filter are in process of erection connected by pipes with the cookshed. At Arrah the wells not in use are being filled up, there being no further use for them now that the municipal water is introduced. The best method of filtration has continued to receive attention, and several new filters have been tried. A masonry filter of a new type is under construction at the Chapra Jail. Messrs. Bolton and Company have erected one of their filters as an experiment at the Buxar Jail.

Government has recently issued instructions to try the Pasteur-Chamberland filter at two of the jails which have shown the worst mortality during the year—Motihari and Naya Dumka. If the accounts of this filter are justified by the result, we may hope to find through it a solution of the great and difficult problem of providing a perfectly pure supply of drinking water, an object which has received the closest attention of Government and of the Jail Department for many years, though not hitherto with any complete success.

27. Clothing.—Medical officers have freely exercised the discretion given them of increasing the supply of clothing. The improvement of ventilation has also received consideration, and an important work with this object undertaken in opening up by arches the main building in the Presidency Jail.

The remarks made in paragraphs 90—95 of the Report appear to the Lieutenant-Governor to be appropriate and judicious. Sir Charles Elliott cordially endorses the passage quoted below, and desires to record his warm commendation of the humane and zealous attention which Dr. Comins and his subordinate officers have paid to the health of the prisoners under their charge.

There is, I think, no detail connected with the daily life of prisoners in jail which has not been carefully considered and improved where possible with such funds as were available. The health of the prisoners has been bad during the year, but it is not for want of attention on the part of Medical Committees, the detailed reports of which have been forwarded to Government, and of jail officers who have throughout the year been sparing themselves no trouble and the Government no expense, not only to counteract the unusual bad health prevailing during 1894, but with the view of permanently reducing the sickness and mortality in Bengal jails. The reports on the extreme unhealthiness prevailing among the general population submitted by the Civil Surgeons of districts and the Medical Officers of jails show with what exceptional difficulties they had to contend.

The system of granting gratuities to Civil Hospital Assistants for especially good service has been continued, and Rs. 3,794-13-9 expended in this way during the year, as compared with Rs. 4,006-5-9 spent in 1893. A decrease is noticed, although considerably heavier duties have devolved [illegible] induced this class of officers during 1894 on account of the prevalence of sickness [illegible]ars."

28. Sickness and mortality.—The following table shows the mortality among prisoners for each year as well as for each decade from 1844 to 1894;—

From this statement it will be observed that although the death-rate for the y[illegible] report is considerably less than the average for the past 51 years, and [illegible] the averages of the first four decades of this period, it is higher than in any year since 1885. In this respect it corresponds with the deterioration in the health of the free population throughout the province. The Sanitary Commissioner's report shows that the general death-rate for Bengal was 34·88 in 1894, against 28·21 in 1893. Cholera was much more prevalent than in the preceeding year, but the principal cause of disease and death was malarial fever which was extraordinarily prevalent in consequence of the late rain of 1893, and the heavy downfall of 1894. It is not to be wondered, therefore, that the jail returns of mortality should be disappointing, and the continuity of the decrease which has occurred with more or less steadiness during the last fifteen years should have been broken. The death-rate per mille rose from 32·3 to 47·1.

The daily average number of sick among prisoners of all classes rose from 642 in 1893 to 744 in 1894, while the proportionate number of admissions to hospital rose from 1,046 to 1,234. It is however pleasing to note that a remarkable improvement has occurred during the first four months of the present year. In January 1895 there were 29 deaths among convicts against 59 in January 1894, in February 1895, 31 deaths against 46 in 1894; in March 1895, 26 deaths against 32, the healthiest month of the year 1894; and in April 1895, 38 deaths against 57 in 1894.

29. Principal diseases causing sickness and death.—The following table shows the principal diseases from which prisoners suffered during the year:—

Diseases.	Number of admissions to hospital.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille of deaths to admissions.
Dysentery and diarrhœa	6,107	314	51·41
Intermittent fever	5,533	4	0·72
Remittent and continued fever ...	1,007	24	23·8
Other fevers	32	4	...
Respiratory diseases	900	105	116 6
Anæmia and general debility ...	625	60	96 0
Ulcers and boils	375	...	...
Scrofula and phthisis	150	71	473·3
Cholera	110	65	590·9
Small-pox	2	...	...
Jaundice	24	...	...

With the exception of intermittent fever and small-pox, there has been a rise in admissions under all diseases. The former hardly appears as a cause of death. Numerous admissions from remittent fever indicate the prevalence of the severer forms of malarial fever. The greatest increase is under the head dysentery and diarrhœa—an increase of 10·76 per cent. This disease continues to be the most prevalent and fatal in the jails of Bengal. Dr. Comins cites the opinions of many medical officers that malaria is a strong predisposing cause to dysentery. Dr. Buchanan, the Officiating Superintendent of the Bhagalpur Jail, says:—

"Dysentery, diarrhœa, anæmia, debility, scurvy, dropsy, enlarged spleen, malarial cachexia.—These are the eight chief diseases of jails all over India.....There is one common factor in all these diseases, viz. malaria. As regards jail mortality I am inclined to regard cases returned as deaths under these headings as having been practically identical in their clinical history. One or other disease or symptom may have been predominant. I must not be understood to say that diseases are identical, but I maintain that among fatal cases in jails it is often a matter of chance under which of these diseases the death is recorded, for the majority of fatal cases show a mixture of all the above in greater or lesser degree."

Among the free population of the districts the chaukidar, who is the reporter of deaths, would probably return all such deaths under the generic term, fever. It has often been remarked that more people die of dysentery in jail than among the free population, where it is a very uncommon cause of death, as shown by the mortuary statistics, and Sir Charles Elliott has little doubt that the true explanation is indicated here.

Dr. Comins adverts to the difficulty experienced by many Superintendents and Medical Officers of suppressing various methods of artificially inducing bowel-disorders which are frequently resorted to as a means of obtaining the freedom and privileges of the hospital. His experience agrees with what Sir Charles Elliott learnt when recently visiting Midnapore, where it was found necessary to exterminate croton plants, which ornamented the garden walks, because the prisoners plucked and ate the leaves in order to induce diarrhœa.

"In considering the mortality in jails in recent years," Dr. Comins remarks:—"it must be remembered that influenza, a potent cause of present sickness and after depression of vitality, has been with us for some five years, whereas previous to this it was unknown to the present generation. The direct mortality from this cause is not great, but it has a weighty and long-continued influence in the general lowering of the standard of health and weight and in hastening the issue of other diseases, such as tubercle of the lungs."

The number of admissions from cholera rose from 54 cases with 20 deaths in 1893 to 40 cases with 65 deaths in 1894. At Gaya 31 cases occurred, at Chaibassa 25. The outbreak at Gaya was the subject of a special report to Government, in which the figures shewed that superior immunity was enjoyed by those who had been protected by inoculation; and the Lieutenant-Governor issued orders authorising the Inspector-General to introduce inoculation on Professor Haffkine's system by the medical officers in charge of jails in cases where an outbreak of cholera has actually occurred and where the prisoners accept it voluntarily. The total number of deaths among convicts (including 13 moribund prisoners released under rule 488 of the Jail Code) was 754, against 541 in 1893. Of the 740 convicts who died in jail, 237, or 320·27 per mille, were received into jail in good health, and 232, or 313·51 per mille, in indifferent health, and 271, or 366·22 per mille, in bad health. These figures carry an important significance. Moreover, the number of deaths among under-trial prisoners increased in a much greater proportion than that among convicts, and is nearly double of that recorded in the previous year.

A Committee was appointed by this Government in October 1893 to visit and report upon certain selected unhealthy jails in the province. The committee so appointed visited ten jails—Dinajpur, Rangpur, Jalpaiguri, Jessore, Mymensing, Arrah, Chapra, Malda, Purnea, and Puri—and submitted full and detailed reports; and most of the recommendations made, have already been carried into execution.

The following table shows the particulars of prisoners transferred to selected jails for the benefit of their health since June 1892 :—

The reports of medical officers indicate that although on the whole the system has justified to a great extent the hopes formed, that prisoners in whom organic disease is not far advanced generally improve at these selected jails, and that in fact many lives have been thus saved by transfer from malarious districts, there is danger in the transfer of other prisoners whose disease may be unchecked or even aggravated by the change. It is hoped that the lessons taught in this respect will be carefully noted and will guide medical officers in making selections for transfer in future.

* There was a subsidiary jail at Naya Dumka before 1891.
† Barasat was a subsidiary jail before 1893.

The mortality of the Chaibassa Jail has recently been the subject of enquiry by a Committee of Medical Officers. Their report has not yet been received by Government, but the continuance of cholera leads the Lieutenant-Governor to think that there must have been some neglect to thoroughly disinfect the jail before it was again used when the cholera camp was broken up. At Dumka, out of nine deaths in jail, five prisoners were feeble old men between 60 and 75 years of age, and four prisoners admitted in bad health, or moribund, were sent straight to hospital. At Daltanganj the mortality is almost entirely due to an outbreak of cholera. At Balasore a Committee of Medical Officers have reported that a great proportion of the deaths were independent of jail life. The mortality at Chapra is accounted for by the increased sickness from all causes in the district. At Motihari the fluctuations in the death-rate per mille during the last five years have been remarkable. In 1890 it was 26·2, in 1891, 14·2, in 1892, 60·9, in 1893, 22·8, while in 1894 it has risen to 88·2. Probably there may be some cause of pollution to the water-supply, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the recently ordered Pasteur-Chamberland filter may be of especial use here; if other causes are at work, the question should be thoroughly considered by the Committee which is about to inspect this jail. In the Presidency (European) and Khulna jails, with an average convict population of 34·08 and 30·08, respectively, there were no deaths. Next in order of lowest mortality stand Krishnagar (6·9), Chittagong (7·0), and Berhampore (8·6).

31. Inspections.—Dr. Comins was absent from head-quarters on inspection and committee duty for 141 days in the year, and inspected 32 central and district jails and 10 subsidiary jails. The total number of inspections paid by non-official visitors fell from 107 to 89, but the number of visits paid by judicial and magisterial officers rose from 2,143 to 2,235. The Lieutenant-Governor inspected seven Central or District Jails, besides several subdivisional lock-ups.

32. Officers of the Department.—Dr. Comins thankfully acknowledges the minute care and attention devoted by the officers of his department to improvement in the conditions of life of the prisoners during an exceptionally trying year. Among the officers specially commended are:—Dr. R. Macrae at Gaya, Dr. A. H. Nott at Hazaribagh, Dr. U. C. Mukerji at Bankura, Mr. C. H. C. Sevenoaks and Dr. P. O'Gorman at Midnapore, Dr. E. Bovill for his work at Bankipore, and Mr. A. D. Larymore. Mr. Larymore has continued to show his inventive skill by the manufacture of alarm signals and ranges for hospital kitchens, and has lately been devising improvements in filters and experimenting, in collaboration with Dr. Evans, the Chemical Examiner to Government, on the relative efficiency of filtering media.

Sir Charles Elliott desires in conclusion to record his high appreciation of Dr. Comins' services. His report is able and full, and testifies to the special care which he has devoted to all matters concerning the health of the prisoners and the preservation of their lives. This undoubtedly is the first object to be arrived at, and till it is more effectually secured than now, Sir Charles Elliott does not complain that the second object—the ensurance of really punitive labour—is somewhat overlooked, or receives less consideration than it deserves. But if the time comes when the prisoners are in a less unhealthy state on entering the jail, and when we can ensure a pure water-supply and other healthy conditions within the jail, undoubtedly we ought to realise larger results from their labour.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Jails for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that a copy of this Resolution, and a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department.

Ordered also, that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE EDEN SANITARIUM FOR THE YEAR 1894.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Darjeeling, the 5th June 1895.

RESOLUTION—No. 116T.—M.

READ—

The Report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium for the year 1894.

Read also—

The Report for the year 1893 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The total number of admissions into the Sanitarium during the past ten years are shown in the table below:—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Patients ...	192	273	344	336	370	316	356	370	328	314

Total ...	260	393	428	443	492	402	507	414	359	349

The number of patients admitted was smaller than in any year since 1886, and was lower by 58 or 15·6 per cent. than the number admitted in 1892. As compared with the return of last year, the decline is slight, and is attributed to the fact that owing to extensive repairs the Sanitarium was not opened till the 15th April, being six weeks later than usual.

2. The number of residents in each class during the past four years is shown in the following statement:—

Admissions.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.
1	2	3	4	5
First class ...	75	59	51	51
Intermediate class ...	123	90	52	50
Second class ...	169	146	144	139
Third „ ...	140	119	112	109
Total ...	507	414	359	349

The figures show that there was no material change in the relative popularity of the various classes.

3. Of the 314 patients treated, 255 were adults (149 males and 106 females) and 59 children. The number of the latter decreased during the year under review as compared with the numbers admitted in 1893 and 1892, which were 71 and 72 respectively. The total number of patients who occupied free beds rose from 19 in 1893 to 30 during the year under review, but the provision made by Government for sending convalescent seamen from Calcutta to the Sanitarium was hardly utilised. Only three patients were sent to the Sanitarium at the cost of the Hospital Port Dues Fund, against 13 in the previous year. Eleven were received from the Medical College and General Hospitals, and sixteen were admitted by the Committee of the Sanitarium. Notwithstanding the fall in the number of admissions noticed above, the daily average number of patients treated rose from 31·23 in the preceding year to 45·5, the highest figure on record. In future the daily average number of relatives and attendants should also be given, as without it the exact daily cost of diet per head cannot be accurately calculated. The average number of days spent by each patient in the institution was 30·72, as compared with 24·94 in 1893 and 23·77 in 1892. Of the cases treated in the Sanitarium, about 33 per cent. were for diseases directly or indirectly of malarial origin. Considering that 56 per cent. of the patients came from Calcutta and its neighbourhood, and nearly 25 per cent from Darjeeling, the Duars and the Terai, this proportion, which is 7 per cent. less than in the preceding year, is very much what might have been expected. The number of operations, including nine important, rose to 159, the largest yet recorded, against 94 in 1893 and 40 in 1892. It is satisfactory to note that all the cases were successful. There were six deaths during the year, two of the cases having been received in a moribund state. The percentage of deaths was 1·91, against ·91 in 1893 and 2·16 in 1892.

4. The total income of the institution rose during the year from Rs 29,526 in 1893 to Rs. 34,459-4-4, or by 16·7 per cent. Of this amount Rs. 33,353-4 were received from patients, Rs. 860 as subscriptions, Rs. 208-12-4 as interest, and Rs. 9-12 as miscellaneous receipts. The increase in income was entirely due to enhanced receipts from patients, and nearly half of it was contributed by patients of the second and third class, the other half being defrayed in equal proportions by the first and intermediate classes. The total expenditure rose from Rs. 27,367-11-7 in 1893 to Rs. 36,720-2-3, or by 34 per cent. The cost of diet increased from Rs. 9,925-12-8 to Rs. 16,889 8-8, or by 70 per cent., while the average daily cost per patient rose approximately from Re. 1·2 in 1893 to Re. 1·75 in the past year, being an increase of eight annas a head per day irrespective of differences of class. This great increase is not fully accounted for by the explanation given in the report as to the more expensive kinds of meat and milk provided, the general improvement in the diet scale and the general rise in the cost of living in Darjeeling. The Lieutenant-Governor understands, however, that as a result of more careful management the cost of diet is being reduced during the present year, and he trusts that in justice to the patients and out of regard to the popularity of the institution, the Committee will take this matter into careful consideration. The expenditure of the year exceeded the income by Rs. 2,260-13-11, and the credit balance was reduced by this amount in order to meet the deficit. The year closed with a credit balance of Rs. 7,816-0-6, against Rs. 10,076-14-[illegible].

5. The free cot for children was fully utilized during the year. It was occupied from the 19th May till the 8th November, during which period four children were admitted, who derived great benefit from their stay.

6. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Surgeon-Major R. Cobb, who was Superintendent during the most part of the year, and to the Managing Committee for their efficient management of the institution, which continues to be popular. Sir Charles Elliott is glad to learn that the superior establishment performed their respective duties satisfactorily.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1894.

No. 119J.D.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE.

Dated Darjeeling, the 7th June 1895.

The Annual Report on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs for the year 1894.

The Reports for the two previous years and the Resolutions recorded thereon by Government.

Sir John Lambert, K.C.I.E., was in charge of the police of the town of Calcutta and its Suburbs throughout the year, with the exception of one month (from the 16th October to the 15th November), during which period Mr. A. B. Barnard, Deputy Commissioner, officiated for him. Mr. Barnard was on furlough from the 22nd March 1893 till the 22nd March 1894. During his absence Mr. H. E. C. Pagot acted for him as Deputy Commissioner.

2. The total number of offences, cognizable and non-cognizable, reported in the town of Calcutta and its suburbs during 1894 and the four preceding years, is shown in the following table:—

	1890.	1891.	1892.	1893.	1894.
Town	48,873	48,569	47,765	36,552	41,512

Total ...	61,542	60,440	59,237	47,794	54,526

The total number of cases is still much less than in the four years preceding 1893 when the figures were abnormally low. There has, however, been an increase of 4,960 cases in the town and 1,772 in the suburbs, or 6,732 cases in all. Of this increase, 6,044 cases fall under the category of miscellaneous offences, viz., street offences, 1,163 cases; cruelty to animals, 2,272 cases; municipal prosecutions, 2,274 cases; and offences under the Hackney Carriage Act, 1,066 cases, while 688 only come under the Penal Code. The table in the margin illustrates the nature of the increase according to cognizable and non-cognizable crime under miscellaneous and Penal Code offences.

Nature of offences.	Increase in cases.
Miscellaneous, cognizable	2,541
Ditto, non-cognizable	3,503

3. The total number of cases tried in the town and suburbs during the year was 42,559, of which 32,968 ended in conviction. Out of 27,513 cognizable cases sent up by the police, convictions were obtained in 25,707, or 93·4 per cent.; while out of 1,549 cognizable cases taken up by the Magistrates direct, convictions were obtained only in 662, or 42·7 per cent. The small ratio of convictions in the latter class of cases is ascribed to the fact that the complainants obtained processes in haste, and afterwards came to an amicable settlement. The percentage of convictions in cases sent up by the police is highly creditable to the work of the force. The increase under Penal Code offences occurred under unimportant sections, chiefly of nuisances, while a decrease is observable under almost all heads of serious crime. Excluding offences under class VI (Other offences), the figures of true crime for the three years 1892, 1893, and 1894 are 3,232, 3,326, and 3,225, respectively. The total number of arrests under all heads in the town and suburbs rose from 35,981 to 38,342, the ratio per cent. of convictions to arrests remaining almost the same, viz., 91 per cent. The increases occurred under minor heads as explained above. The large number of arrests for cruelty to animals indicates increased vigilance on the part of the Society for its prevention

4. False cases.—Fifty-five false cases were brought in the town and 19 in the suburbs, compared with 71 and 28, respectively, in 1893. Compensation was awarded to the extent of Rs. 279 in 19 cases in the town, and Rs. 15 in two cases in the suburbs, or an average of Rs. 14 in all 21 cases.

5. Property stolen and recovered.—Property to the value of Rs. 1,83,787 was stolen in the town and suburbs during the year, compared with Rs. 1,27,776 in the previous year; and Rs 1,25,215 worth, or 68·14 per cent., was recovered, against Rs. 92,938, or 72·73 per cent., in the previous year.

6. Cognizable offences in the town.—The number of true cognizable cases reported within the town rose from 21,232 in 1893 to 23,755 in 1894. Under classes I to VI there was a decrease of 586, while special and local laws account for an increase of 3,109 cases. The increase occurred principally under the following heads:—cruelty to animals (1,863), street offences (1,194), public and local nuisances (270), and other offences under the Police Act (153). Cases under the Hackney Carriage Act have, under the recent Act, been transferred to the returns of non-cognizable crime; and hence a decrease of 860 cases under this head.

There were nine cases of murder during the year, or the same number as in 1893. In two cases the offenders were transferred to other districts for trial; in two cases the murderers committed suicide, and in the five remaining cases four offenders were hanged, and one was transported for life. There were four cases of culpable homicide, three of which resulted in conviction; in the fourth case a second officer of a vessel was charged with having caused the death of the ship's boy by a long course of ill-treatment on the high seas, but was discharged on the evidence of the ship's doctor that the boy died of meningitis brought on by malarial fever. There was only one case of concealment of birth, and the evidence was insufficient to sustain a prosecution. The number of cases of grievous hurt fell from 35 to 31 There were four cases of administering drugs compared with no case in 1893, and four cases in 1892. Of these, three cases were very similar in nature, the victims being prostitutes, who were drugged with dhatura disguised in milk, with the object of stealing their ornaments; and all three cases resulted in conviction. There has been a large decrease in cases of hurt by dangerous weapons, 31 cases having occurred in 1894 against 55 in 1893, and an average of 43 in the five preceding years. Of 41 persons arrested in connection therewith, 27 were convicted. Twenty cases of kidnapping occurred. Of these, 17 were instituted on complaint made direct to the Court, none of which ended in a conviction, and three were sent up by the police, in two of which the offenders were convicted. Out of 64 persons placed on their trial for using criminal force to public servants or to females, 48 were convicted. There were two highway and four other robberies. Burglary and lurking house-trespass show a slight increase in number of cases, but a decrease in the amount of property stolen. On the other hand, thefts were less numerous than in 1893, but the amount of property stolen exceeded that shown in any of the five previous years. Out of 1,489 true cases of theft; 867 were detected and 943 persons convicted—an improvement over the average of the four years preceding; and the percentage of property recovered was 68·38, against an average of 65·77 for the same period. In 324 cases of criminal breach of trust, 249 persons were placed on their trial, and only 67 convicted. The Commissioner of Police says that in these cases settlements are usually made out of Court. In one case a post-office delivery peon was sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment for misappropriating Rs. 100, the amount of a money order entrusted to him for delivery. Out of 625 persons sent up under the Gambling Act, 597 were convicted, only one of whom was sentenced to a term of imprisonment. In cases of cruelty to animals, out of 6,898 persons arrested, 6,723, or over 97 per cent., were convicted. In street offences 9,521 persons, out of 9,706 placed before the Magistrate, or over 98 per cent., were convicted. These figures are highly satisfactory.

7. Non-cognizable offences in the town.—The number of offences reported true under the Penal Code and under special and local laws were 4,403 and 13,321, against 4,464 and 10,804, respectively, in 1893. While there was a decrease of 61 in Penal Code cases, there was an increase of 2,517 in cases under other laws. This increase occurred almost wholly under municipal laws (1,644 cases), and under the Hackney Carriage Act (802 cases). Of the municipal cases, the larger number were as usual instituted under section 90 of Act II (B.C.) of 1888, for exercising a trade or profession without a license.

Sir John Lambert describes how a new form of fraud, which has appeared of recent years in Calcutta, viz., cheating by bogus firms, is practised. The proprietors of these swindling establishments are all Bengalis, who adopt the names of European firms. They advertise widely in remoter parts of the country, stating that their terms are cash, and giving in some cases a fictitious address, and in other cases the private address of one of the conspirators, arrangements always being made with the local post-office to keep all letters and money-orders till called for.

8. Cognizable offences in the Suburbs.—The number of true cognizable cases rose from 6,733 to 7,016. The increase is almost entirely under special and local laws, and is due to greater activity in prosecutions under the Cruelty to Animals Act. There were four cases of murder, against seven in 1893; in three a sentence was passed of transportation for life; in the fourth case the accused has hitherto evaded arrest. Of 18 cases of grievous hurt, convictions were obtained in 13.

One case of drugging was reported, in which one Ramo Dosad, a cooly, was administered some dhatura mixed in sweetmeats on the road, and robbed. Seven cases of kidnapping occurred, all being instituted on complaint direct to the Court, and none ending in conviction. One case of robbery, in which a ship's lascar attempted to throttle, and robbed, a little girl, ended in a sentence of 18 months' rigorous imprisonment. There were only 65 cases of burglary and lurking house-trespass, against an average of 106 cases during the four preceding years. The decrease in property stolen is even greater, from an average of Rs. 4,579 to Rs 1,331.

9. Non-cognizable cases in the Suburbs.—During the year 5,979 cases occurred, showing an increase of 1,498 cases, chiefly under the Municipal and Hackney Carriage Acts. There has also been an increase of 422 cases of hurt and criminal force, which has not been noticed. One case of considerable importance of criminal breach of trust by a public servant occurred: a fraud involving a large loss to Government was discovered to have taken place in the Alipore Post-office, and two employés were placed on their trial, one of whom has subsequently been sentenced to seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

10. Suicides and accidental deaths.—There were 69 cases of suicide in the town and suburbs, against an average of 84 in the preceding three years. Of this number, 41 were of males and 28 of females. Two hundred and eighty-eight accidental deaths occurred during the year, against 349 in 1893. Thirty-two persons were run over and killed by vehicles, but no fatal case occurred in which rashness or negligence was established. One hundred and one persons were prosecuted for rash and furious driving, of whom 89 were convicted, compared with 38 prosecutions and 34 convictions in 1893. Twelve Europeans and 41 natives were drowned in the port of Calcutta.

11. Working of the Arms Act.—The number of fire-arms of all descriptions in stock at the commencement of the year was 2,538. Three thousand and twelve were imported, and 1,913 purchased in India; while 1,050 were sold under transport licenses, and 3,858 sold locally, leaving a balance of 2,555 at the close of the year. Of 11 persons charged with offences under the Act, nine were convicted and two acquitted.

12. European Vagrancy Act.—Fifty-one vagrants were admitted into the Government Work-house, against 50 in 1893. Of this number, 44 were declared vagrants in Calcutta, and 7 were sent by District Magistrates. Eight remained in the Work-house at the end of 1893, making a total of 59. Of these, 27 were discharged, 5 released, and 9 absconded. Eight persons besides were transported from British India under the provisions of section 17 of the Act.

13. Fire-brigade Act.—The steam-engines of the brigade were employed at 32 fires, compared with 28 in 1893. Eighty-four other petty fires occurred, at 15 of which assistance was rendered by the brigade, and at 69 by the out-station staff and manual engines. The total loss of property from fires during the year is estimated at Rs. 8,84,976, as compared with Rs. 6,10,524 in 1893. Four fires occurred in which property worth over a lakh was lost—one on board the flat Bannu, laden with jute, one at the Hydraulic Jute Press at Chitpore, and two at the Howrah Mills, Sibpur, in buildings filled with jute. The most serious of these was that at the Hydraulic Jute Press at Chitpore, whereby property to the value of Rs. 2,27,000 was destroyed. Three lives were lost at fires during the year.

14. Constitution of Police Force.—The total strength of the force was 2,889, against 2,873 in 1893, an increase of 16 men having been made in the Government guards. There were 306 casualties, showing a percentage of 10·59, against 8·38 in the previous year. Seven members of the force were punished judicially, compared with 18 in 1893 and 11 in 1892; 82 were dismissed, 1 deserted, and 26 died. The total cost of the force was Rs. 6,20,799, as compared with Rs. 6,18,681 in 1893, showing an increase of Rs. 2,118. The increase occurred chiefly under the head of exchange compensation allowance.

The Commissioner of Police reports that there was some improvement in the general health of the force: admissions to hospitals were 2,305, against 2,406 in 1893. Towards the close of the rainy reason, however, many of the constables in the unhealthy tracts of the suburbs were rendered unfit for duty by malarial fever, and a special extra allowance of Re. 1-8 per mensem was temporarily granted with the sanction of Government in the same way as was done in the previous year.

15. Rewards.—Rupees 3,498 were disbursed as rewards in the town and suburbs, against Rs. 3,242-12 in 1893. Of this sum, Rs. 1,415 were paid by private individuals. In all 208 officers were rewarded, of whom 83 were informers and 68 constables, and the remainder officers of higher grades. In accordance with the orders conveyed in last year's Resolution, the Commissioner of Police has furnished more information regarding the distribution of rewards, but the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see some further details given as to the nature of the more important cases in which rewards were granted, and the amounts given.

16. Anthropometry.—During the past year 405 persons arrested for offences against property, whose antecedents were unknown to the local police, were anthropometrically measured, and previous convictions thereby traced against 31 of them. Besides these cases, the measurements of 394 habitual offenders were taken and recorded in the Anthropometrical Department of the office of the Inspector-General of Police. Sir Charles Elliott is pleased to receive this further assurance of the practical utility of this system.

During the year, 7,646 persons were confined in the Police Lock-up, against 6,571 in 1893. Of these, 3,057 were for drunkenness, and 4,589 for other charges. There has been a large increase of 45 per cent. in cases of drunkenness. It is observed that 77 per cent. of such cases were natives, against 65 per cent. in 1893.

17. Judicial Work.—Mr. Marsden held the office of Chief Presidency Magistrate from the 1st January till the 1st May, when he retired from Government service. Mr. Pearson, who was appointed to succeed him, held the office during the remainder of the year. Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, C.I.E., was in charge of the office of Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division, for the greater part of the year; the Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jabbar, Khan Bahadur, acting for him from the 10th April to the 30th June, and again from the 24th September till the 31st October.

18. Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate.—The total number of cases instituted in this Court was 11,936, as against 10,431 in 1893. Of 14,697 persons concerned in those cases, 13,560 were convicted, 1,083 acquitted or discharged, and 32 were under trial at the end of the year. Of 4,949 persons charged with offences under the Indian Penal Code, 4,391 were convicted; 2,942 persons were prosecuted for cruelty to animals, of whom 2,792 were convicted; 3,679 were prosecuted for public and local nuisances, 3,847 for miscellaneous offences in the streets, 1,537 under the Port Act, and 204 for gambling. The total amount of fines imposed was Rs. 24,477, out of which Rs. 21,544 were realised. Appeals were preferred against the order of the Court in 34 cases, which were rejected in every instance. The High Court was moved in 10 cases. In 5 cases the applications were summarily rejected, in 1 case the rule was discharged, in 3 the orders were set aside, and in 1 the conviction was upheld, but the sentence modified. Only 4 cases were declared to be false, frivolous, or vexatious during the year; and compensation to the extent of Rs. 70 was awarded, in two cases under section 552, Criminal Procedure Code, in one case under section 560, Criminal Procedure Code, and in one case under section 58 of the Hackney Carriage Act.

19. Northern Division Court.—In this Court the number of cases instituted rose from 12,660 to 14,225. In these cases 15,969 persons were brought to trial, of whom 14,886 were convicted, 1,016 acquitted or discharged, and 18 remained under trial at the end of the year. Thirty-six persons were committed in 27 cases to the Court of Sessions, of whom 33 were convicted and three discharged—a result which is highly satisfactory. Of 15,938 persons actually tried or committed, 14,919, or the remarkable percentage of 93·6, were convicted. Of 3,804 persons prosecuted for cruelty to animals, 3,791 were convicted. The total amount of fines imposed was Rs. 25,628-8, of which Rs. 22,074-8 were realised. Rupees 30 were paid as compensation in six cases under section 552, Criminal Procedure Code, and Rs. 10 in one case under section 560, Criminal Procedure Code. During the year 77 appeals were preferred against the order of the Court, with the result that 75 were rejected, and in two cases only the sentence imposed was reduced by the High Court. In seven cases the High Court was moved; in four the rule was discharged, in two the order set aside, and in one a re-trial ordered.

20. The Lieutenant-Governor has commented in the Resolutions of the two previous years upon the large difference between the number of persons against whom processes were issued and the number who actually appeared in Court. The statement in the margin shows the result in this respect in non-cognizable cases separately for the Court of the Chief Presidency Magistrate, the Northern Division Court, and the Bench Courts, during the year under report. It will be seen that although on the whole a marked improvement has taken place in the percentage of persons appearing, to persons against whom process issued, from 51·5 per cent. to 67·2 per cent., the proportion in the case of the Northern Division Court is still as low as 24·9 per cent. Taking four serial numbers of offences, viz., hurt, criminal force, mischief, and intimidation and insult, tried in this Court, the result, as will be seen from the figures in the margin, is even more striking. Out of 3,021 persons against whom process issued in these cases, only 318, or 10·52 per cent., appeared; while out of 1,004 persons against whom process issued for intimidation and insult, only 115 appeared, and of those who appeared, only 5, or 4·3 per cent., were convicted. Sir Charles Elliott is not satisfied from these figures that a judicious discretion has always been used in the issue of such processes. From the reports submitted it appears that adjournments took place in 212 police cases before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, chiefly on the application of the Police, in 11 of which cases the adjournments were six or more in number. In the Court of the Presidency Magistrate, Northern Division, adjournments were made in 185 police cases, six cases being adjourned six times or more; while 34 police cases were adjourned by the Bench Courts. In the Court of the Northern Division, 35 adjournments out of a total of 372 were made by reason of pressure of work or want of time. No information has been given regarding the detention of witnesses.

22. Work of Honorary Magistrates.—Exclusive of municipal cases, 1,159 cases were transferred to the Bench Magistrates, 934 to Honorary Magistrates sitting singly, and 1 case was taken up by the Honorary Magistrates motu suo, making a total of 2,094 cases. Of these, 1,555 were under the Penal Code, 65 under the Code of Criminal Procedure, and 474 under local laws, compared with 1,582, 35 and 295, the corresponding figures for 1893. In 1,905 cases actually brought to trial, 2,844 persons were concerned; 1,456 were convicted, 1,356 acquitted or discharged, and 32 remained under trial. Rupees 6,126-6 were imposed as fines, of which amount Rs. 5,476-5 were realised. Ten cases were declared false, frivolous, or vexatious. Rupees 129 were granted as compensation, in two cases under section 552, Criminal Procedure Code, in seven cases under section 560, Criminal Procedure Code, and in one case under section 58 of the Hackney Carriage Act. Nine appeals were preferred, in all of which the order of the Court was upheld; and in 11 cases in which the High Court was moved, the conviction was set aside in one case only.

11,702 Municipal prosecutions under Act II (B C.) of 1888 were instituted, against 10,121 in 1893, the increase being chiefly in cases under section 90 of the Act. Of these cases, 2,453 were struck off and 9,249 brought to trial. 2,966 persons were convicted, against 2,656 in 1893, while 6,283 cases resulted in acquittal or discharge, against 3,051 in the preceding year—a difference which should have been explained. Fines were imposed to the extent of Rs. 16,261-2-0, as compared with Rs. 13,288-13 in the previous year, and Rs. 13,241-7-9 were realised.

23. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to read the testimony again borne to the excellent services rendered by the Honorary Magistrates of Calcutta. The Chief Presidency Magistrate remarks that their efficiency would be greatly enhanced if the Courts could always sit punctually at the appointed hour, and if Honorary Magistrates would always send timely notice in case they may be unable to attend. Mr. Pearson at the same time records his thanks to twenty-four Magistrates who have attended to complete a Bench at a moment's notice. Sir Charles Elliott highly appreciates the valuable assistance rendered to Government by these gentlemen at the sacrifice of personal considerations; and they should be an example to others, few in number, who have not attended in spite of invitation. The number of Honorary Magistrates who attended one or more sittings of the Bench was 88, and the average number of sittings of these Magistrates was 13, as compared with 11·6 in the preceding year.

24. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the favourable mention made by Sir John Lambert of the assistance rendered in the administration of the force by Mr. A. B. Barnard, Deputy Commissioner of Police, and of the other officers specially named in paragraph 37 of the report. Sir John Lambert himself continued to discharge his duties with his usual ability and efficiency. The thanks of Government are also due to Mr. Pearson, and to Nawab Syud Ameer Hossein, C.I.E., and the Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jabbar for the good work they have done during the year. The names of the subordinate officers favourably mentioned will be duly noted.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information and for communication to the Presidency Magistrates; and to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, and the Municipal Department of this Government, for information.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

FEEDER ROADS TO THE EASTERN BENGAL STATE RAILWAY SYSTEM.

No. 3090C.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Communications.

Dated Darjeeling, the 11th June 1895.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Government of India, Public Works Department Resolution No. 94A.G., dated the 4th June 1894, paragraph 5, in which the Government of India express a hope that works of communication, particularly feeder roads to Railways, will have the first claim on assignments for expenditure on Public Works.

THE accompanying lists of proposed feeder roads to the Eastern Bengal State Railway, and Bengal Central Railway, have been prepared with the joint assistance of the Manager of the Eastern Bengal State Railway and the Commissioners of the Presidency and Rajshahi Divisions, and of the Agent and Chief Engineer of the Bengal Central Railway. The Feeder Roads have been arranged in their order of importance, so far as that can be ascertained. The Lieutenant-Governor has now resolved to depute a Public Works Department officer with a suitable staff to survey the proposed roads and prepare estimates of their cost, and when this has been done the resulting information will be made public, and grants will be made from Provincial Revenues, as far as possible, which it is hoped the District Boards may be able to supplement, for the construction of the roads. The object of publishing this information is to make it known to the public what roads are considered by those best acquainted with local conditions to be valuable as feeders, in the event of any one being inclined to undertake the construction of feeder railways along the lines indicated, and to propose terms for their construction which may be acceptable to the Supreme Government under the rules for the construction of feeder lines.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioners, Presidency and Rajshahi Divisions; to the Manager, Eastern Bengal State Railway, and to the Agent and Chief Engineer, Bengal Central Railway, for information.

Ordered also that this Resolution be published in the supplement to the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. J. JOHNSTONE, MEM. INST. C. ENGRS.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·5 higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Mean for 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the station in the district sending in return divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The mean at the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional stations for the period in question for the week ending Saturday, the 8th of June 1895.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the return are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·10 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 11th June 1895.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 8TH OF JUNE 1895.

THERE has been little of importance to record during the past week, as regards atmospheric changes, as comparatively calm settled weather has prevailed over the Bay and, with the exception of local thunder-storms, in Bengal also. Pressure was above the normal at the beginning of the week, and by slow upward changes the excess became more pronounced over Bengal than over the Bay, so that a much more uniform arrangement was established than usually obtains in the early part of June. This high pressure in the north led to changes in Bengal which began in the east and extended westwards. The southerly winds in Lower Bengal became easterly, and, as generally occurs when this change takes place, local disturbances caused rain to fall over a great part of the province.

The rainfall was confined to East and North Bengal at the beginning of the week, and temperature was above the normal at all except a few stations, chiefly in Assam and North Bengal. The excess in temperature increased towards the west of the province, where there was still a difference from the normal of more than 5°. The local storms were very numerous in the eastern half of the province on Monday, the 3rd, and a considerable fall of temperature followed the rain, and, as at the end of last week, excessive temperatures were confined to Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and Bihar. During the past few weeks when temperature fell in the east of the province, the change has never extended over the western districts, but on this occasion, probably because of the continued high pressure over the northern districts and the steady easterly winds in the south of the province, the local storms continued for some days and gradually extended westwards. On the 4th temperature was still relatively low in the east and above the normal in the west, especially in Chota Nagpur and the west of Bihar. On the 5th defect had increased, and the excessive temperatures were confined to Chota Nagpur and Orissa. On the 6th there was defect over the whole province, the greatest being in the west of Bihar.

While this series of thunder-storms was passing westwards over the western half of the province, weather conditions were becoming more settled in the east. Rainfall had almost entirely ceased in Assam and East and North Bengal on the 6th, and temperature, with the clearing skies, was rising. This change also extended westward. On the 6th light showers were fairly general in the western districts, but on the 7th rainfall was more scattered, and chiefly in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and the west of South-West Bengal, and on the 8th there was very little rain anywhere. The rising temperature followed the clearing skies, and mean temperature at the end of the week was again above the normal in all districts except Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and South-West Bengal, where there was defect of about 2°.

Pressure.—Changes have been of little importance throughout the week. A uniform distribution has prevailed over the Bay owing to a rather large excess over Bengal, and of diminishing amount towards the south. This arrangement has had a very apparent influence on the weather because of the steadiness with which it has remained from day to day. Mean pressure is above the normal in all districts, by amounts varying from ·08 inch in Orissa to ·12 inch in the north of the province.

Temperature was high over the whole province at the beginning of the week. The local storms which began in the east of the province caused a fall of temperature which gradually spread over all districts. Towards the end of the week temperature was recovering, and averages on the last day of the week were below the normal only in the south-western districts. The means for the week do not differ much from the normal, being nearly 2° above in Chota Nagpur, half a degree above in Orissa and Bihar, almost normal in East Bengal, and 1° below in the other districts.

Rainfall.—Very little rain fell on the first day of the week. The numerous thunder-storms during the following four days caused fairly general rainfall over a great part of the province. The last two days were almost rainless except in the south-western districts, where showers were still falling. The averages are all below the normal for the larger subdivisions, by more than 1 inch in East and North Bengal and by about a quarter of an inch in the other districts. East Bengal received 2·51 inches, North Bengal 2·16 inches, South-West Bengal 1·78 inches, Orissa 1 inch, Chota Nagpur ·7 inch, and Bihar about half an inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the six meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 8th of June 1895 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

THE following Rules are published for general information.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 25*th June* 1895.

Revised Rules for the payment on the part of Government of the expenses of complainants and witnesses attending the Criminal Courts.

UNDER the provisions of section 544 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Act X of 1882), the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has, with the sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General of India in Council, been pleased to prescribe the following revised rules for regulating the payment on the part of Government of the expenses of complainants and witnesses in cases coming before the criminal courts.

2. The criminal courts are authorized to pay, at the rates specified below, the expenses (a) of complainants or witnesses, whether for the prosecution or for the defence (1) in cases in which the prosecution is instituted, or carried on by, or under the orders, or with the sanction, of the Government, or any Judge, Magistrate, or other public officer, or in which it shall appear to the presiding officer to be directly in furtherance of the interests of the public service; and (2) in all cases entered in column 5 of schedule II appended to the Criminal Procedure Code, as not bailable; and (b) of witnesses in all cases in which they are compelled by the Magistrate of his own motion to attend under the provisions of section 540 of the Code.

3. If a witness is summoned at the instance of the complainant or accused under section 244, his expenses shall not be withheld from him except on the ground of failure to do his duty as a witness when summoned.

4. As a general rule, the allowances to be paid to complainants and witnesses shall be a diet allowance calculated at the following rates:—

(a) For the ordinary labouring class of natives, 2 annas per diem.
(b) For natives of higher rank in life, 4 annas per diem.
(c) For Europeans and Natives of superior rank, a diet allowance according to circumstances up to a limit of Rs. 3 per diem.

5. In addition to the above, charges for toll at ferries will be allowed at the authorized rates to the extent to which they may have been actually incurred.

6. Other travelling expenses will be given only when the journey could not have been performed on foot, or in the case of persons whose age, position, and habits of life render it impossible for them to walk. In such cases, in addition to diet allowance and ferry tolls, travelling allowance shall be given at the following rates:—

(1) When the journey is by rapid dák by road, the actual expenses incurred up to a maximum limit of 4 annas a mile.

(2) When the journey is, wholly or partly, by rail—

(a) For the ordinary class of natives, third class railway fare.

(b) For natives of higher rank in life, intermediate class railway fare; except in the case of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway, where second class railway fare may be allowed.

(c) For Europeans and Natives of superior rank, second class railway fare.

(3) In the Eastern Districts of Bengal, where the only mode of travelling is by water, the actual expenses incurred for boat-hire up to a limit of Rs. 2 per diem.

7. Notwithstanding the above rules—

(1) Government servants when summoned to give evidence in their public capacity shall receive nothing from the Court. In this case they are entitled to travelling allowance under the Civil Service Regulations. Government servants when summoned to give evidence in their private capacity may be paid by the Court and may retain any travelling allowance due to persons of corresponding rank under these rules, but no diet allowance, and they shall not be entitled to any travelling allowance under the Civil Service Regulations.

(2) To witnesses following any profession, such as Medicine or Law, a special allowance shall be given according to circumstances.

8. Officers will be held responsible that parties of witnesses are brought to court together as far as possible, so as to save expense. The hire of more than one boat shall not be allowed in one case, unless the presiding officer is satisfied that the witnesses could not have arranged to come together.

9. The number of days for which diet allowance should be granted will be determined by the officer ordering payment in each case.

10. For this purpose and for regulating the reimbursement of tolls paid, a table shall be prepared and kept in each court, showing the distance of each thana from the Sadar station and subordinate stations, the number of intermediate ferries to be crossed, and the authorized rates of charges for tolls at each of these ferries, the existence or absence of roads or waterways being also noted in the table.

The above rules are issued in supersession of all existing rules, and cancel Judicial Department circulars—

EXISTING RULES.

Supplementary Instructions.

Sub-Rule 6.—Primary Register 9 (Register of convicts.—Circular Order No. 5, dated 5th July 1865).—(a) For the purpose of enabling Magistrates to ascertain whether parties charged before them have been previously convicted of any of the offences for which enhancement of punishment is provided, on a second or subsequent conviction, by section 75, Act XLV of 1860 (Penal Code), and section 4, Act VI of 1864 (Whipping Act), and for purposes of general statistical information, Registers shall be maintained in Magistrates' offices in the form of Register No. 9.

1. Offences relating to Coin and Government Stamps (Chapter XII, Penal Code).
2. Offences against property (Chapter XVII, Penal Code).
3. Giving or fabricating false evidence (sections 193 to 195, Penal Code).
4. Falsely charging any person with having committed an unnatural offence (sections 211 and 377, Penal Code).
5. Assaulting or using criminal force to any woman with intent to outrage her modesty (section 354, Penal Code).
6. Rape (section 375, Penal Code).
7. Unnatural offences (section 377, Penal Code).
8. Forgery (sections 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, Penal Code).
9. Culpable homicide (section 304, Penal Code).
10. Causing grievous hurt (sections 325, 326, 329, 331, 333, 335, 336, Penal Code).

(b) These Registers shall contain the names of parties convicted of any of the crimes specified in the margin, and shall be in English. Every conviction, as sentence is passed, must be entered in the office of the Magistrate of the District by the officer whose duty it is to keep the Register of Convicts. In cases committed to the Sessions, the entry shall be made on sentence being passed by the Sessions Judge. If a prisoner be released on appeal, whether by the Judge or by the Magistrate, a note should be made in the column of remarks, giving the date and purport of the order of the Appellate Court.

(c) Similar Registers shall be kept up in the same manner by Subdivisional Officers regarding the offences specified, which may have been committed within their respective jurisdictions, and of which any persons may have been convicted. These officers should report to the Magistrates the entries of the past month regularly at the commencement of each successive month for incorporation in the general district register.

(d) To ensure the proper preparation and keeping up of the register, the Magistrate or other magisterial authority in charge, shall require the officer, whose duty it is to prepare it, to bring the register for his inspection and signature at least once every week.

(e)[1] At the close of the year an alphabetical index of the parties convicted within the 12 months should be made for facility of reference; and at the close of every fifth year an alphabetical index should be prepared from the alphabetical indices of the previous five years.

[1] This clause was amended on the revision of the Criminal Rules and Orders in 1883—vide High Court proceedings, April 1883.
NOTE.—Insert the following as an additional note to Rule 1, sub-rule 6, clause (e), Chapter V at page 189 :—
The index referred to in this clause should be prepared at subdivisional as well as at district head-quarters (High Court proceedings, June & August 1892, Nos. 98 and 110).

(f) When a prisoner has been convicted more than once, a note to that effect should be made against his name in the Register opened for that purpose.

(g) (Circular Order No. 10 of 3*rd September* 1878).—As it is desirable to keep this Register in as compact a form as possible, and to save the trouble of recopying, all Registers should be written in printed forms of uniform size, so that the subdivisional returns may be added to the Magistrate's Register, as they come in. The general register should be paged and stitched as a book at the close of the year, when the annual alphabetical index is made, and at the end of five years the Registers for the previous five years with the general index should be bound together, the whole being repaged.

(h) (Circular Order No. 10 of 3*rd September* 1878).—A certificate in the form subjoined shall be annexed to the Quarterly Statement A1, and shall be signed by the Magistrate of the District, except when he is on tour, in which case it may be signed by the officer for the time being in charge of the head-quarters office:—

FORM OF CERTIFICATE.

EXPLANATORY NOTE, REFERRED TO IN THE BEGINNING OF THE LIST.—The following extract from the Government of India's Despatch No. 9, dated 9th January 1895, explains the principle on which these Departments have been divided into Imperial and Provincial:—

"4. In the case of the following Departments only, i.e., the General (Executive and Judicial) Administration,
the Education Department,
the Forest Department,
the Survey Department, have we found it possible to effect a complete division between the Imperial and Provincial branches, and in their case we accept the view that the favourable leave rules should apply, as a general rule, only to officers in the Imperial Branch of the Service.

"In the case of the General (Executive and Judicial) Administration, except as regards the appointments at Presidency Towns and one or two other miscellaneous appointments, the distinction between Imperial and Provincial Services is clear. All officers holding posts in the cadre of the Indian Civil Service, other than members of the Provincial Service and natives of India appointed in accordance with rules framed under section 6 of 33 Vict., Cap. 3, to posts listed as open to the Provincial Service, form the Imperial Branch of the Service and will be subject to the more favourable leave rules. All other officers, including those specially appointed to listed posts, will belong to the Provincial Service and will come under the less favourable rules.

"In the Education Department the members of the future European Eductional Service, together with officers who will have the option of entering that Service, but prefer to retain their present graded posts, will form the Imperial Branch of the Department, and they alone will come under the leave rules for the European Services in Chapter XIII of the Civil Service Regulations.

"The Forest Department has already been divided into Imperial and Provincial branches. The Imperial Branch is manned by officers recruited in England and will ultimately consist of 80 per cent. of the present staff of upper control. All the members of this Imperial Branch will be entitled to the more favourable leave rules. The less favourable rules will apply to the members of the Provincial Branch, which is to be recruited in India from natives of India, and to consist of (a) the entire lower controlling staff, and (b) eventually 20 per cent. of the upper controlling staff.

"In the Survey Department the Imperial Branch has been formed out of the Present Senior Division minus ten appointments which have been surrendered to the Provincial Branch, and will ultimately consist of 38 appointments. The Provincial Branch will consist of the present Junior Division with the addition of the ten appointments taken from the present Senior Division, and will eventually include 142 appointments in all. The recruitment for the Imperial Branch will be, as at present restricted (with two exceptions) to Military officers, who will all be entitled to the more favourable leave rules. The exceptions alluded to are the Civilian specialists appointed either by the Secretary of State, or with his special sanction, to the Dehra Computing Office and the Calcutta Photographing Office, and these also will receive the benefit of the better rules. There will be open recruitment from amongst natives of India for the Provincial Branch by competition amongst approved candidates, and the less favourable leave rules will apply to all members of this branch.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be communicated to the Departments of the Government of India; to the several Local Governments and Administrations; to the Heads of Departments under the Finance Department; to the Comptroller and Auditor-General; and to all Accountants-General and Comptrollers.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

NEW ZEALAND—South island—Current basin.

Buoy placed southward of Piége (Beef Barrels) rocks.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 280 of 1895) that a survey has recently been made of the vicinity of Piége (Beef Barrels) rocks, with the undermentioned result:—

1. A rock, with less than 6 feet water on it, lies W. by S. $\frac{7}{8}$ S. (S. 69° W.), distant $1\frac{4}{10}$ cables, from the largest (northern) Piége rock; there are depths of 6 to 9 fathoms half-a-cable westward of this rock.
2. A rock, with less than 6 feet water on it, lies S.W. by S. (S. 34° W.), distant $2\frac{1}{4}$ cables, from the largest Piége rock; there are depths less than 5 fathoms for a cable south-westward of this rock, deepening to 10 fathoms beyond, and shallow water between it and the Piége rocks.
3. Foul ground, with depths of 2 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms on it, extends 3 cables S.E. by S., and nearly $2\frac{1}{2}$ cables eastward, from the largest Piége rock; the 5 fathoms line is about a cable to the northward of the Piége rock; to the north-westward the limit of shoal water has not been determined, but there are rocks with less than 6 feet water on them for about $1\frac{1}{2}$ cables in that direction.

In bad weather the sea breaks on all the above rocks, most heavily on those stretching to the south-westward.

A red buoy has been moored with the largest Piége rock bearing N. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., distant $2\frac{4}{10}$ cables; and Hole in rock point E. $\frac{3}{4}$ N.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF A BOARDING-HOUSE FOR THE STUDENTS OF THE CALCUTTA MADRASA.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Darjeeling, the 21st June 1895.

RESOLUTION—No. 175T.—G.

READ—

Letter No. 877, dated 12th February 1895, from the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

Letter No. 1095, dated 16th March 1895, to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

The number of Muhammadan students in the Calcutta Madrasa on the 31st March last was 957, of whom 40 were in the College Department, 322 in the Anglo-Persian Department, 222 in the Branch School, and 373 in the Arabic Department, including 163 students of the latter department who attend voluntary English classes. The accommodation provided for this large number of students has been for some years admittedly deficient, both in class rooms and in sleeping space for boarders. In May 1891, the Lieutenant-Governor sanctioned a grant for the construction of an upper story over the western wing of the Madrasa, in order to provide increased space for the Branch School; but it was ascertained on examination that the foundations were unable to bear the weight, and the design was abandoned. Sanction had also been given in 1888 to hiring a separate house, at a rent of Rs. 150 a month, for those boarders who could not find proper accommodation in the Madrasa building.

2. It has long been Sir Charles Elliott's desire to build, with the assistance of private liberality, a separate boarding-house for the Madrasa. The present arrangements for lodging the students in the upper story of the Madrasa building are insufficient and most unsuitable. A separate boarding-house would not only provide the accommodation required for those students whose homes are outside Calcutta, but would also set free the upper part of the present building, now occupied by boarders, for a much-needed extension of the class room accommodation. In both ways, therefore, an end would be put to the present overcrowding of students. But while this project has long been recognized as desirable, it has hitherto languished for want of the necessary funds. The Government of Bengal has not been in a position to make any large grant from Provincial Revenues, and until that could be done, it appeared useless to appeal to private liberality.

3. Private effort, however, directed to the same end, has not been wanting. Fortified by the promise of Sir Charles Elliott that all sums contributed by private liberality would be met by an equal grant from the Government, an appeal setting forth the need of a Muhammadan hostel in Calcutta was circulated to the public early in 1893, by Dr. R. Hoernle, Principal of the Madrasa, associating with himself the gentlemen named in the margin. It was pointed out that Muhammadan parents living in the mufassal were often deterred from sending their children to Calcutta for education by the difficulty of finding suitable lodgings for them at a moderate cost, and proper supervision for them when lodged. Notwithstanding these grounds of apprehension, the influx of Muhammadan students to Calcutta was so large that the provision of further accommodation had become a matter of prossing urgency. The gentlemen named had therefore formed themselves into a Committee for the purpose of collecting subscriptions to build a suitable house in the immediate neighbourhood of the Madrasa; and they appealed with confidence to the wealthy members of the Muhammadan community, as well as others, for funds to enable them to carry out that object. It was added that provision was required for 200 students, and that the approximate cost would be Rs. 70,000 for each 100 students. As experience showed that about one-half of the Muhammadan students coming to live in Calcutta were too poor to be able, without assistance, to defray the cost of their living, it was proposed to set apart a portion of the building for the purpose of providing free lodging for poor and meritorious students. It was also proposed that subscribers should enjoy, in proportion to the amount of their donations, certain privileges in respect of the nomination to free studentships, and in other ways.

The Hon'ble Prince Sir Jahan Kadr Mirza Muhammed Wahid Ali Bahadur, K C.I.E., of the Oudh family.
Nawab Abdul Latif Bahadur, C.I.E.
" Saiyid Amir Husain, C.I.E.
Khan Bahadur Abdul Jabbar, C.I.E.
" " Mahomed Yusuf.
" " Surajul Islam.

4. The result of this appeal to private munificence has, on the whole, been satisfactory. In 1893 and 1894, a sum of Rs. 12,000 was realised from the gentlemen named below:—

	Rs.
Nawab Khwaja Ahsanullah Bahadur, C.I.E.	6,000
His Highness the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad, G.C.I.E. ...	2,500
His Highness the Nawab of Junagarh	1,500
Maulvi Ali Ahmad Sahib (for Mussamat Bibi Soghra) ...	1,000
Nawab Saiyid Vilayut Ali Khan, C.I.E.	500
The Muhammadan Literary Society of Calcutta	500
Total ...	12,000

5. Early in the year 1895, a contribution of Rs. 5,000 was promised, and has since been paid, to the Hostel Fund from the estate of the late Saiyid Basarat Ali Chaudhuri of Tippera. A further contribution of Rs. 2,000 has within the last few days been received from Haji Kasim Ariff of Calcutta. Both of these have been obtained through the influence of Mr. A. F. Abdur Rahman, who has taken great interest in the furtherance of the project. There is, therefore, for the furtherance of the present purpose, a sum of Rs. 19,000 already in hand; and there is reason to hope that liberal contributions will be obtained from other sources also. Sir Charles Elliott now finds himself in a position to supplement the sums provided by private liberality by a considerable grant from Provincial Revenues. He has agreed to make a grant of Rs. 50,000 from this source in order that a beginning may be made at once with the boarding-house, and in the hope that further contributions may come in when it is seen that the project has been taken in hand.

5. Accordingly, a scheme has now been drawn up in the Public Works Department, under the Lieutenant-Governor's orders, for taking up a piece of land in the immediate neighbourhood of the Madrasa, to the north-east, and for building a boarding-house upon it. The boarding-house will be double-storied, in the form of three sides of a quadrangle, facing Wellesley Square to the south, and open to the north. It will be capable of extension to the north, and will be able to carry a third story if required. The portion now to be built is designed to accomodate 96 students, and also to provide quarters for a resident Superintendent and a medical officer, together with a library and reading-room. The estimate for the land amounts to Rs. 39,421, and for the building Rs. 60,321, or approximately a lakh of rupees in all. Of this amount the Government of Bengal is prepared to contribute one-half, in the hope that the other half will be contributed by the public. Should the financial position of the Government and the amount of private contributions justify, at some future time, the further extensions contemplated above, the building, when finally completed, is designed to accommodate 64 more students in the northern wing and 84 in the third story, or a total number of 244 students. This is about the number of students of the Madrassa whose homes are outside Calcutta; and if the full design is carried out, residence in the hostel will be made compulsory for all such students. The additional cost involved in these extensions will amount approximately to Rs. 82,000.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor expresses a confident hope that the commencement of this useful work, which is to be taken in hand at once, will elicit the promise of further contribution in aid of it from the Muhammadan community, and indeed from all who are interested in the progress of Muhammadan education. To students of that creed, resident in the mufassal, the Calcutta Madrasa offers exceptional advantages in the way of education. Hitherto the great drawback has been the absence of satisfactory supervision over the conduct and the general welfare of those of its students who come from a distance, and who have often been compelled, from poverty and other causes, to occupy indifferent lodgings amid questionable surroundings. The establishment of a spacious hostel, under adequate supervision and with every necessary arrangement for the health and comfort of the students, will relieve mufassal students from all these disadvantages, and will be of benefit alike to their studies, their health, and their character. It is not possible, nor even is it desirable, that the Government should undertake this duty unassisted. The matter is one which closely concerns the Muhammadan community and its future advancement, and Sir Charles Elliott cannot but feel confident that the efforts of Government on behalf of the younger members of that community will meet with a cordial and liberal response from its leaders.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR 1894.

No. 1154Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 18th June 1895.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letters Nos. 2360, 2512 and 33T., dated 13th March, 23rd March, and 3rd May 1895, respectively, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, submitting the Report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for 1894.

This report, which was due to Government on the 1st March, was submitted by Dr. Rigby on the 4th February, without any mention of the Mecca pilgrim traffic, although special instructions had been given him to refer to this subject, and with a very inadequate account of the measures taken to protect the Port of Calcutta from infection by the plague prevalent in Hongkong. It was returned to have these deficiencies filled up, and has at last been received in a fairly complete form with the Sanitary Commissioner's letter of the 3rd May.

2. Establishment.—The duties of the Health Officer were performed by Surgeon-Major Macrae from 1st to 19th January, by Dr. Forsyth from 20th January to 3rd April, and by Dr. Rigby from 4th April to 31st August and from 1st October to 31st December. In the interval Dr. E. Dobson officiated. There was no change in the office establishment.

The new steam-launch Relief was completed and put into use from April.

3. Inspections.—The total number of vessels inspected was 1,589, against 1,465 in 1893. The total number of vessels which arrived in the port was 1,014, of which 800 were inspected during the year. There were 1,031 departures, of which 789 were inspected. The Health Officer explains that all the ships and steamers to or from foreign ports are inspected when they arrive at or leave the port. The steamers which make constant coasting voyages to Indian and Eastern ports are inspected as frequently as possible, but it is impossible to inspect all of them, both on arrival and departure, owing to their large number and frequent goings and comings.

4. Ventilation of crews' quarters.—The Health Officer reports that in many vessels improvements have been made in the ventilation of the forecastle and in the provision of bath-rooms and latrines for sailors, and it is satisfactory to find that owners and agents are willing and anxious to do all in their power to assist and carry out all the suggestions made by him.

5. Sickness and mortality among European seamen.—The number of European seamen who arrived in the port during the year was 17,900, against 16,218 in 1893. The daily average number in port was 1,481, against 2,081 in 1893. The total number of admissions into hospital was 1,462, and the death-rate per mille was 16·20, against 13·93 in the previous year. Including the deaths out of hospital, the death-rate per mille during the year was 26·33, against 24·50, 15·47, and 35·7 in the three preceding years.

6. Of the admissions into hospital, 10 cases were due to cholera, 8 of which were fatal There were 1 case of small-pox and 4 cases of sunstroke, with 1 death. Two convictions were obtained before the Chief Presidency Magistrate for breach of the port rules in working men exposed to the sun during prohibited hours. In 1893 there were four prosecutions with two convictions. There were 70 admissions from bowel-complaints, and this large number of cases is attributed to the habit among the seamen of purchasing bread and ærated waters of an inferior and impure character The attention of the Chairman of the Corporation has been drawn to this, with a view to more careful examination of these articles by the Municipal Sanitary Inspector. There were 12 deaths from drowning, against 15 in 1893.

7. The following table shows the number of admissions to hospital from venereal diseases during 1894 and the previous 10 years:—

Year.	Admissions.	Admission rate per 1000.
1884	184	109·2
1885	170	100·4
1886	417	179·2
1887 ...	228	120 4
1888	183	121·1
1889	186	114·3
1890	248	147·7
1891	185	129 7
1892	479	224·5
1893	386	185·4
1894	343	231·6

While the number of admissions was not so large as last year, the ratio is, however, higher.

8. Sickness and mortality among the native floating population.—There were in all 137 deaths in and out of hospital, against 72 in 1893 and 132 in 1892. The death-rate per mille is 5·34, and is considerably higher than the rate in 1892 and 1893. Of the total deaths, 35 were in hospital and 102 out of hospital. There were 83 deaths from cholera—23 in hospital and 60 out of hospital. There were 6 cases of scurvy, which has been ascribed to bad ventilation and feeding on unwholesome fish.

9. Pilgrims.—No vessels left the Port of Calcutta during the year with pilgrims for the Red Sea, but there were two arrivals during the year, viz., the S. S. Jubeda and S. S. Sultan. These vessels left Jedda with 1,341 passengers, and lost 20 before they reached Bombay: they brought 792 passengers on from Bombay to Calcutta, of whom 6 died on the way. None of these deaths were due to epidemic disease.

10. Quarantine.—Owing to an outbreak of bubonic plague at the ports of Hongkong and Canton, quarantine rules were put into force on all vessels arriving at Calcutta from these ports from the 1st July to the 17th September 1894.

During this period, 10 vessels arrived from Hongkong with a total of 556 passengers, and were detained at the Mateabrooj quarantine moorings. None of these vessels had any sickness on board, and as the voyage lasts from 15 to 17 days, there was little fear of latent infection being introduced by the passengers. The danger was confined to articles which might be conductors, and the holds together with mails, baggage, clothing and effects of the crews were thoroughly fumigated. The forecastles were also fumigated, washed with carbolic acid and repainted. The time the vessels were detained for fumigation ranged from 36 to 48 hours.

In regard to the value of these measures as far as plague is concerned, the Health Officer expresses a doubt if the apparatus used for the purpose of fumigation would be an efficient germ-destroyer if it existed in any of the imported articles, and he suggests that some permanent and effective arrangements should be undertaken to place the port under thorough protection from the importation of contagious and infectious diseases. This suggestion will receive the consideration of Government; but, whatever the decision arrivedat, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot but express his satisfaction that the city of Calcutta escaped the dreaded disease which caused such heavy mortality at Hongkong.

11. The number of corpses found floating in the river was 79, the figures for the last four years being 72, 59, 105, and 60, respectively. The prevalence of this nuisance, both in Calcutta and in the province generally, has attracted the attention of Government, and a resolution has issued in the Judicial Department with the object of eliciting opinion in favour of drastic executive action for the prevention of the practice.

12. Water-supply.—Municipal filtered water was supplied to the shipping throughout the year, and no complaints were received regarding the supply, nor were any instances noticed of the water being polluted by the crew of the boat.

13. Food.—In six vessels portions of food for European seamen were found bad and condemned, and with one exception they were all changed. The one exception was the S.S. Chancellor which sailed without a food certificate, and it is therefore not known whether the condemned food was changed or not. There were numerous cases of inferior food for lascar crews. In every case the food was condemned and the certificate withheld until the new supply had been passed.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the return are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·10 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 25th June 1895.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 22ND OF JUNE 1895.

THE week just past has been one of general rainfall over the whole province, but with this remark must be given an important qualification as regards distribution. Under ordinary conditions the moist current from the Bay is strongest in East and North Bengal, and a much greater amount of precipitation takes place in these parts than in the western districts. During the past week easterly winds have continued with little change across the north of the Bay, while the winds blowing across East and North Bengal are from Burma, where the air has been to a considerable extent deprived of its moisrure. East Bengal has, in consequence, received less than half its normal amount, while in North Bengal the deficiency is not much under 2 inches. In the western and central districts, on the other hand, heavier rain than usual has fallen, the greatest difference being in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and South-West Bengal.

The cause of this general rainfall has been, as is usual, during the monsoon season, a disturbance which originated in the south of the Bay, and which was beginning to be felt in the extreme south before the week began. The pressure distribution over Bengal and the west of the Bay was practically normal on the 16th, the first day of the week, but over the south of Burma and the east of the Bay, a considerable defect had developed. A strong westerly current was blowing across the south of the Bay, and the light winds which prevailed in the north were beginning to assume directions belonging to a cyclonic system. Fine weather then prevailed over the province, but local storms were of daily occurrence in all districts, and caused showers generally of short duration. On the 17th, pressure fell slowly except over the centre of the Bay, where the fall was at least brisk, as shown by the changes at the coast stations. The depression was better defined and the cyclonic circulation more regular, but winds were very light except in the south-west of the Bay. The series of thunderstorms, which continued, caused cool weather over the west of the province, especially in the west of Bihar. On the 18th, the centre of the depression was not far from the Orissa coast, and though changes of pressure were but slightly downwards over the west of the Bay, the disturbance had concentrated in consequence of a rise which had prevailed both to the north-west and south-east of it. This rise was rapid in the south of Burma and brisk in the west of Bihar. On the morning of the 19th, the centre of the depression was still to the east of the Orissa coast, but about noon it passed the coast between Puri and False Point. The fall of pressure continued slow in the north-west of the Bay. It rose rapidly, however, in Burma, and gradients were much steeper over the Bay. Strong winds developed and followed the depression into the north-west angle, while the steeper gradients over the province were attended by stronger easterly winds. General rain fell on this day, the heaviest being in Orissa, near the centre of the disturbance. After the centre crossed the coast, the depression soon filled up and weather moderated very quickly—a change which was probably to a great extent due to the recovery of pressure which followed the disappearance of another depression on the west coast of India. This rise of pressure extended eastwards over the whole of India.

The monsoon weather which the depression had produced over the whole of Bengal continued for some days, and was sustained in the south-west of the province by another but very shallow depression which appeared over the north of the Bay and South-West Bengal on the 21st. On that day there was a rapid rise of pressure in Orissa and Chota Nagpur, and a brisk fall over Assam and North Bengal. Probably it was owing to the irregularity of these changes that this shallow low pressure area formed, but it was attended by a cyclonic circulation of light winds and by heavy rainfall in South-West Bengal and the west of Chota Nagpur. On the 22nd the depression was more to the north over part of South-West Bengal and part of Chota Nagpur, with a fairly regular circulation of light winds and rather heavy rain.

Meanwhile in North Bengal rainfall had to a large extent ceased, and in East Bengal, though it was general, amounts were very light. In the north of Bihar also, owing to the northerly winds, rainfall was becoming scattered.

Pressure.—During the early part of the week slow downward changes prevailed, and from the 18th there has been a fairly steady rise. Readings have never differed to any great extent from the normal, and the means for the week are nearly normal except in the south-western districts, where there is defect of from ·02 inch to ·05 inch.

Temperature has generally been above the normal by one or two degrees in the east of the province, and about the same amount below in the western districts. During the unsettled weather which attended the passage of the depression across Orissa, there was a large fall of temperature, chiefly in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal.

On the 21st mean defect in Chota Nagpur was about 6,° and on the 22nd it varied from 5° to 6° in the south of Chota Nagpur and part of Orissa. The means for the week are above the normal in East and North Bengal and Assam by amounts varying from 0°·7 to 2°·5, and below in the other districts by between 1°·2 and 2°·6.

Rainfall.—As stated above, general rain has fallen throughout the week over the whole province, the falls being relatively heavier in the west than in the east of the province. The fall in Assam has been light, Dhubri receiving only 1·7, Silchar 2·3, and Sibsagar 3·3 inches. The average fall in North Bengal is 3·05 inches and in East Bengal 2·02 inches, as compared with normal falls of 4·72 and 4·34 inches respectively. In the other districts more than the normal amount has been received, in Orissa by 1·83 inches, Chota Nagpur ·89 inch, South-West Bengal ·67 inch, and Bihar ·22 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the six meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 22nd of June 1895 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
